

March 9, 2012

In 2009, we started the process of finding a builder for our new home to be built in Carriage Park. We had built a number of homes in the past, but building on a mountain lot was totally new to us and gave us some concern. After talking to a number of builders we decided on Mike Matthews, owner of Matthews Custom Built Homes Inc. After seeing some of the homes Mike had built, as well as talking to him about the process and approach to building on mountain lots, we were completely confident we had chosen the a builder with the knowledge and skills required to build a home that would stand the test of time.

Mike provided us with a very clear understanding of the building process, and timeline for decision-making. During the contract discussions, Mike provided, at our request, options and considerations regarding our design and specifications. In the end, we implemented all of these as they clearly added value to our home.

We were also highly appreciative that as construction proceeded, Mike was able to visualize the finished product and identified several important changes that enhanced the overall design.

We were pleased with the preferred vendor choices and Mike's willingness to assess and select new vendors during the process. Throughout we were pleased with the quality of construction, reaffirming our choice for a builder.

Today we are very happy with our finished home. We would be pleased to recommend Matthews Custom Built Homes as a provider of high quality custom homes.

David and Nancy Robinson